HOLLYWOOD MOMS

"My favorite project is [being] a mommy!" the Love Is Blind host tells Us.

The Right Move

Relocating to the Aloha State has benefited Vanessa Lachey's children — the NCIS Hawai'i star, 42, shares Camden, 10, Brooklyn, 8, and Phoenix, 6, with hubby Nick Lachey, 49 — in so many ways. "Being in Hawaii now, I've seen a new side of them, and it's beautiful to watch," the actress told Us while promoting Kinder Joy's birthday pack. "We've become closer as a family and spend more time at home." Here, Vanessa opens up about her party of five.

Q: What are your kids up to?

Camden is playing flag football, so now he and Nick watch football together. It's lovely to see them bond over that. Brooklyn is my party girl and wants us to start a party-planning company. I'm all for that! Phoenix balances everything out. He is loving and snuggly. I soak it all up.

Q: What are your favorite activities with your children?

Anything we can do together as a family is always fun. I love when we hang out in our backyard and I get to watch them play together, especially with Nick because he's such a hands-on daddy. It's great to watch and observe them interacting together. I relish in the moment.

Q: What would you say is your biggest parenting challenge lately?

Feeling like you're not doing enough, so I have to remind myself that I do enough — being there for as many school functions and practices and games. You're not gonna make all of them, so you can't beat yourself up too much. Appreciate the things you do and the moments you're there for.

By Leanne Aciz Stanton / With reporting by Christina Garibaldi

MOTHER KNOWS BEST

As a model and TV personality, Holly Madison has reservations about her children, Rainbow, 9, and Forest, 6, getting into the entertainment industry themselves. (Dad is ex Pasquale Rotella, 48.) "I definitely wouldn't encourage it," the Playboy Murders host, 43, tells Us. "If they absolutely insisted, I'd make them wait until they're 18, but try to be as hands-on as I could and connect them with people in the industry I trust." As it turns out, the mom of two may already have a budding performer on her hands. "My son is a big entertainer and loves to make everybody laugh. He's obsessed with pirates and is super hyper," Madison explains. Meanwhile, her daughter "really loves surfing and animals. She's a super caring, super active person." Besides broaching the sensitive topic of her Playboy past — "They're still really little, so that's a future bridge to cross," she admits — the Girls Next Door alum gushes she's got it made when it comes to parenthood. "Honestly, I have it really easy. My kids are healthy and they have a really great hands-on dad," Madison adds. "I have no complaints."

"You learn the day your kids are born that you never know what to expect," Madison tells Us.

Testing Limits

Jenni "JWoww" Farley is getting used to Meilani, 8, and Greyson, 6, forming their own personalities. (Dad is ex Roger Mathews.) "My daughter loves to challenge me. She demands my attention, and so does my son," the Jersey Shore: Family Vacation star, 36, tells Us. "They just want to do things their way." Luckily, Farley's found a solution for the tough days, joking: "A lot of alcohol!"

Taking Cover

After growing up on reality TV, 19 Kids and Counting alum Jinger Duggar is protecting the privacy of her daughters, Felicity, 4, and Evangeline, 2, whom she shares with hubby Jeremy Vuolo. "We decided to keep them out of the public eye and let them choose what they want to do," the Becoming Free Indeed author, 29, tells Us. And they've extended the rule to social media: "Not showing their faces has been something that we're planning on sticking to."

Love Lives

"For me, it [reflected] how I stand as a strong woman," Bella tells Us of her wedding gown.

ARTEM & NIKKI

Something Old

When Nikki Bella said "I do" to Artem Chigvintsev in August, she opted to wear an item she already had in her closet — the gown she'd initially bought after getting engaged to her ex John Cena. "I had the moment with that dress… when I saw it," the Nikki Bella Says I Do star admits to Us. "I was like, wait, why should I not wear what I love? Because of my past? It just didn't make sense to me." Thankfully, Chigvintsev, 40, didn't mind. "He looks at it as just a material thing," insists Bella, 39. "He probably wanted me to save money."

ADAM & ANNE

The Quiet Life

Anne Hathaway and husband Adam Shulman may have enjoyed a rare public date night in Paris on Jan. 25, but the actress, 40, and the businessman, 41, are more than happy staying out of the spotlight. "They're both very low-key," an insider tells Us, noting that family is the most important thing to the parents of two. "Anne is in awe of what an incredible father Adam is," adds the insider. "Both of them have really lucked out; it's a perfect match."

Beachy Keen

It was a birthday to remember for Alicia Keys, who turned 42 on Jan. 25 during a tropical getaway with Swizz Beatz, 44. "He bought her a diamond necklace," a source tells Us, adding that the pair's marriage "is in an amazing place."

If You Bought Cathode Ray Tubes or Products containing Cathode Ray Tubes, You Could Get Money from a $33 Million Settlement. Simple Online Claim Form Takes 3-5 Minutes.

Para una notificación en Español, llamar o visitar nuestro website.

A class action Settlement has been reached with Mitsubishi Electric Corporation involving Cathode Ray Tubes ("CRTs"), a display device that was the main component in TVs and computer monitors. The lawsuit claims that Mitsubishi Electric conspired with other CRT manufacturers to fix the prices of CRTs, causing consumers to pay more for CRTs and products containing CRTs, such as TVs and computer monitors ("CRT Products").

Who is included in the Settlement?

Individuals and businesses who or which:

- Indirectly purchased a CRT Product, such as a CRT television or CRT computer monitor, in AZ, AR, CA, FL, HI, IA, KS, MA, ME, MI, MN, MO, MS, MT, NE, NH, NV, NM, NY, NC, ND, OR, RI, SC, SD, TN, UT, VT, WV, WI, or the District of Columbia between March 1, 1995 and November 25, 2007 (HI, NE and NV have shorter claim periods);
- For their own use and not for resale.

Purchases in MO, MT and RI must have been made primarily for personal, family, or household purposes. Indirectly purchased means you purchased any brand of CRT Product (except Sony) from someone other than the manufacturer of the CRT Product, such as a retailer like Best Buy or Costco. Purchases made directly from Mitsubishi Electric or an alleged co-conspirator are not included (alleged co-conspirators are listed at www.CRTclaims.com or by calling 1-800-649-0963).

What does the Settlement provide?

Mitsubishi Electric has agreed to pay $33 million to settle the claims against it. Qualifying individuals and businesses that purchased CRT Products in the above-listed states are eligible to file a claim. You must have purchased in one of those states, but you do not have to be a resident of one of those states.

The amount of money you will receive depends on the type and quantity of CRT Products you purchased and the total number of claims made. Eligible claimants are expected to receive a minimum payment of $10. More information is available at www.CRTclaims.com or by calling 1-800-649-0963.

How can I get a payment?

Claim online or by mail by June 13, 2023. The simple online Claim Form only takes 3-5 minutes for most individuals. If you previously submitted a valid claim as an end user for indirect purchases of CRT Products in related prior settlements (In re: Cathode Ray Tube (CRT) Antitrust Litigation, MDL No. 1917 (N.D. Cal.)), you do not have to resubmit your claim to benefit from this Settlement unless you have additional purchases to claim.

What are my rights?

If you do nothing, you will be bound by the Court's decisions. If you want to keep your right to sue Mitsubishi Electric, you must send a written request to the Class Administrator for exclusion from the Settlement Class by April 14, 2023. The Court will exclude any class member who timely requests exclusion. If you stay in the Settlement Class, you may object to the Settlement by April 14, 2023.

On June 1, 2023 at 2:00 p.m. the Court will conduct a hearing via Zoom, with the link available at https://cand.uscourts.gov/judges/tigar-jon-s-jst, to consider whether to approve the Settlement and a request for attorneys' fees up to one-third of the Settlement Fund, plus reimbursement of litigation expenses, and awards to Class Representatives. This date may change so please check the settlement website. You or your own lawyer may appear and speak at the hearing at your own expense.

More Information

For details on how to make a claim, exclude yourself, or object, visit: www.CRTclaims.com. You may also write to: CRT Class Administrator, c/o The Notice Company, P.O. Box 778, Hingham, MA 02043 or call 1-800-649-0963.

PRINCE HARRY

Mystery Solved

After weeks of speculation, the woman who took Harry's V-Card is revealed

The "older woman" that Prince Harry detailed losing his virginity to in Spare has come forward! In a new interview, Sasha Walpole, now a 40-year-old mom of two, claims she's the one who drunkenly slept with Harry in a field behind a U.K. pub back in July 2001. "I don't understand why he went into such detail. He could've said that he lost his virginity and left it at that," she noted, confirming that Harry's retelling of their tryst was "accurate." ("It wasn't that glorious," she recalled. "Afterwards I did grab his bum and give him a slap.") While a source tells Us that Harry, 38, was a bit "embarrassed" by Walpole's interview, he wasn't shocked. "He figured the media would hunt her down eventually," says the source. "He expects this will all die down soon enough." Harry's wife, Meghan Markle, 41, feels the same way. "Meghan finds it a little cringeworthy but she's not making a big deal out of it," adds the source. "This was Harry's story to tell, and he told it exactly how he wanted to."

"Meghan thinks Harry's life experiences have shaped him into the person he is today," says a source.

"It was a pure drunken moment," said Walpole, who, despite being friends with Harry for years, never spoke to him again after the romp. "We drifted apart. I didn't mind. No regrets."

JESSICA SIMPSON

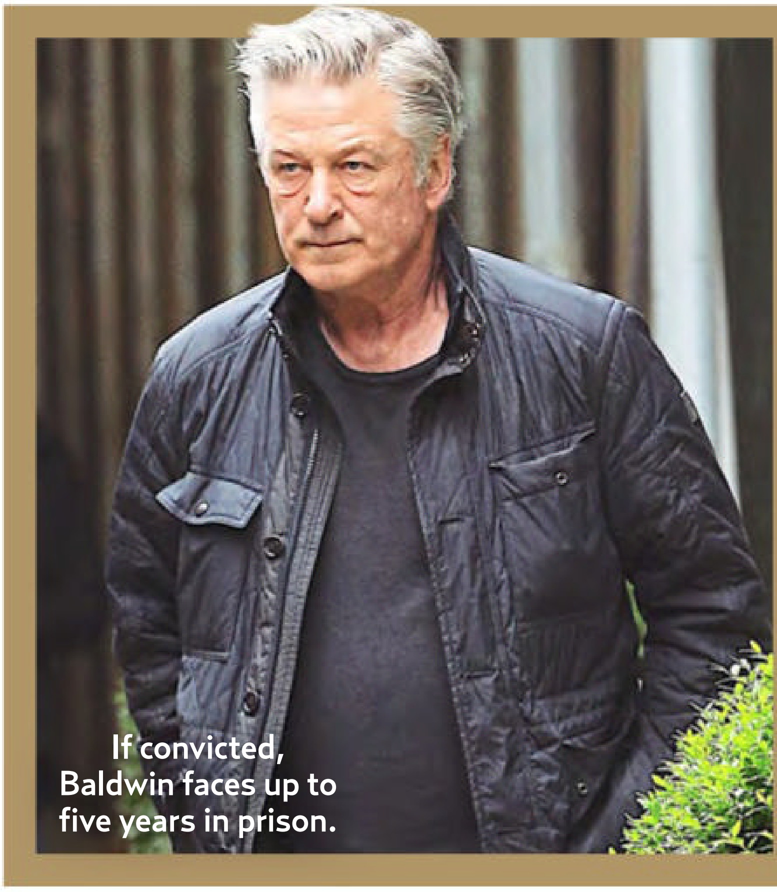
Little Black Book

The rumor mill went wild on Feb. 1 after Jessica Simpson teased in an online essay that she'd hooked up with a "massive movie star" who claimed to be single — only to learn that he'd been lying. "I felt like a call girl," said Simpson, 42, who ended the 2006 affair after seeing pics of the mystery man with his then-girlfriend on a red carpet. "I didn't care if he was my teenage fantasy come to life, this was not a choice… my younger self would be proud of." While online sleuths quickly pointed fingers at Mark Wahlberg (Simpson dropped clues throughout the piece), an insider tells Us that the singer's intent wasn't malicious. "She's been opening up about everything," the insider says of the star, who famously dished on her love life in her 2020 memoir, "and still had some secrets to get off her chest." However, it's much to the dismay of her current hubby, Eric Johnson. "It's been tough for Eric," notes the insider. "He doesn't like hearing about these famous men who were pining after his wife."

"He was undressing me with his eyes," Simpson said of meeting the mystery man for the first time at the 2001 VMAs.

Living in Fear

» Alec Baldwin is struggling to hold it together now that he's been formally charged with involuntary manslaughter for the fatal shooting of Halyna Hutchins on the set of Rust. "He's lost a ton of sleep, and everyone is worried sick about what the future holds," an insider tells Us. "The idea of serving time in a jail cell is Alec's worst nightmare." While the source says that he's confident in his legal team, some fear that the statement of probable cause — which noted that in interviews, Baldwin, 64, "displayed very inconsistent accounts of what happened during the incident" — is hanging over him like a dark cloud. Adds the source: "Alec feels sick to his stomach at how it's all played out."



If convicted, Baldwin faces up to five years in prison.

TOM BRADY

Game Over

"It's kind of bittersweet for Gisele in a sense," a second insider says of Brady's retirement.

On Feb. 1, Tom Brady shared that he's retiring "for good" after 23 seasons in the NFL. "Tom's body was the main reason," an insider tells Us. "He knew that another season could be detrimental to his health. He wanted to stay healthy so he can be there for his [three] kids." The decision comes exactly a year after Brady, 45, announced his plans to leave the sport — only to "unretire" 40 days later. As Us previously reported, the shocking move cost the football legend his 13-year marriage to Gisele Bündchen. The supermodel, 42, "feels Tom did the right thing [this time]," adds a source. "It may have been too late to save their marriage, but she's happy the kids will get to see more of him." While some wonder if a reconciliation may be in the cards — "there's a possibility Tom could be trying to get her back," teases the insider — the source insists it wouldn't be in the near future: "Gisele isn't leaving her career again for him anytime soon."

Back on TV?

Amy Robach and T.J. Holmes may have parted ways with GMA following their highly publicized affair, but a source tells Us that the anchors could be working together again soon. "The top brass at the network aren't shy about bringing in talent who are making headlines," notes the source. "Amy and T.J. will [have a] big offer coming their way."

A Family Affair

Ben Affleck and Jennifer Lopez still have several months to go before they mark one year of marriage, but a source tells Us that the actor has a huge surprise up his sleeve. "The word is Ben's renting an island and will fly in their entire families for a week of celebrations," says the source, adding that all five of their children (Lopez shares twins Max and Emme, 14, with Marc Anthony; Affleck's dad to Violet, 17, Seraphina, 14, and Samuel, 10, with Jen Garner) will likely be there. "Jennifer loves the kids, and they all get along." In fact, blending their families has gone so seamlessly that Affleck, 50, and Lopez, 53, are toying with the idea of expanding their brood. "They go back and forth. On the one hand, they feel they're past that stage, but on the other, they'd love another," says the source. "Jennifer is in the best shape of her life, so never say never!"

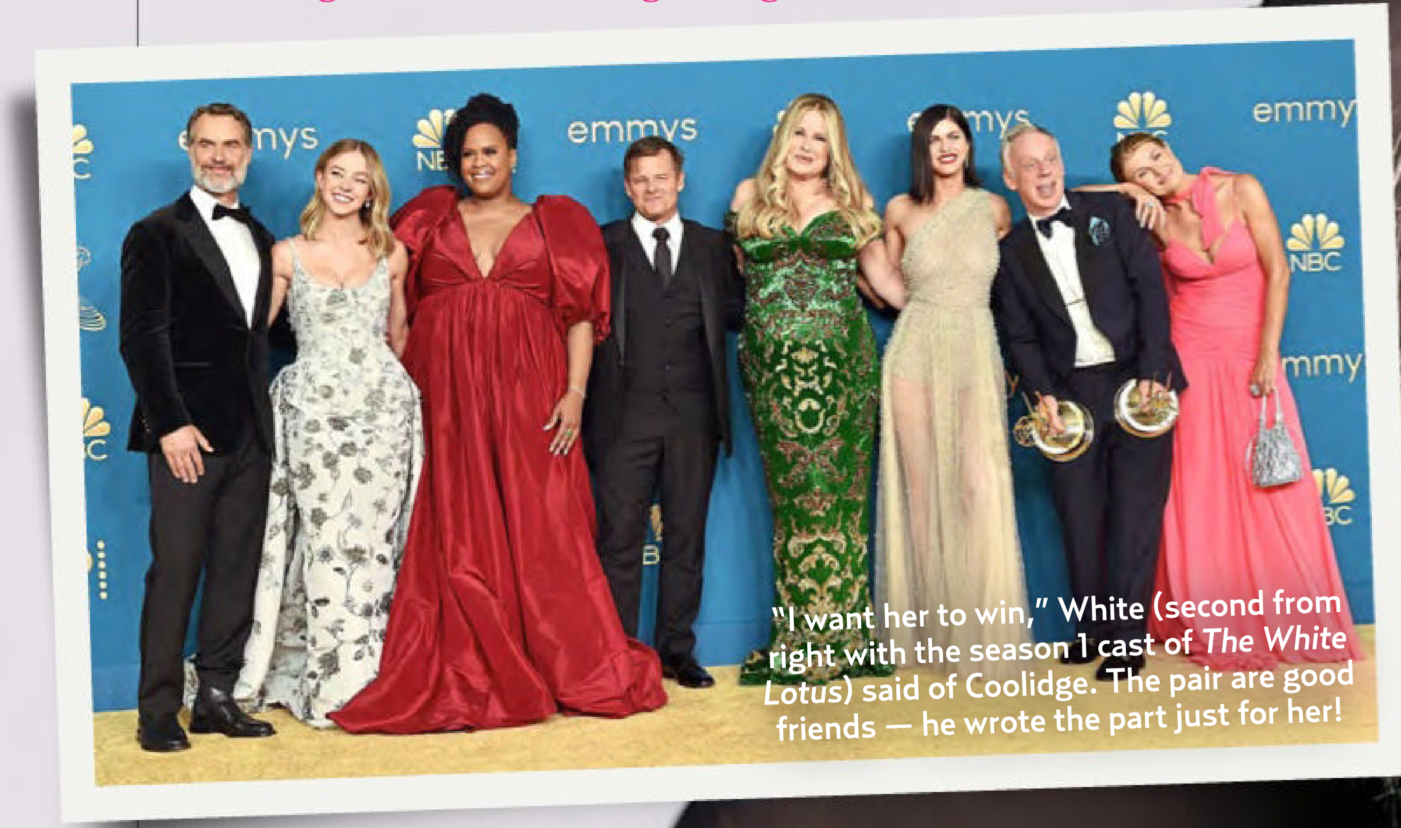
Golden Girl

The award-winning White Lotus star opens up about heartbreak, fame and finding herself

BY JAIME HARKIN

After scoring her first Golden Globe for her scene-stealing turn as a clueless socialite in The White Lotus, Jennifer Coolidge gave a heartfelt and hilarious acceptance speech chronicling her thirty-year Hollywood journey. "I had such big dreams and expectations as a younger person, but what happened is they get sort of fizzled by life," she said in her endearingly frazzled style before thanking the show's creator, Mike White, for jump-starting her career and launching her into superstardom in her 60s. "You've given me a new beginning."



"I want her to win," White (second from right with the season 1 cast of The White Lotus) said of Coolidge. The pair are good friends — he wrote the part just for her!

With reporting by James Robertson

It's been a long time coming for Coolidge, who struggled for years both personally and professionally. Amid constant rejection from casting agents and dead-end gigs, the Shotgun Wedding actress, 61, dealt with the tragic passing of her mother in 1994, as well as the consequences of hard partying. Now she's finally found happiness. "Jennifer is a perfect example of someone who went to the school of hard knocks," says a source. "She picked herself up and is, at long last, reaping the rewards of her hard work. She's gone from the C-list to the A-list in the blink of an eye, and she's still pinching herself. She feels so blessed."

EARLY YEARS

Coolidge, who grew up in the Boston suburbs, had always wanted to be an actress. "Jennifer was ambitious from an early age, and she was prepared to pay her dues," shares the source. Unfortunately, opportunities didn't come easy. Coolidge said she was informed she wasn't pretty enough to make it, with one agent telling her, “I only cast good-looking people on my soaps.” She waited tables at a restaurant called Canastel’s in NYC, where a pre-fame Sandra Bullock happened to work as a hostess. “Jennifer was sharp as a tack,” notes the source, “and very witty with the customers.”

Desperate to make it big, her road to success was sidetracked when her partying got out of control in her late 20s. She was thrown out of clubs and found herself in the ER on more than one occasion. “I was going out every night,” she’s said. “I hit my bottom at 27.” Her parents sent her to rehab in Minnesota. “After that, [I] sort of got my act together,” she explained. “Things got dark for a while there,” says the source. “Jennifer freely admits she made some bad choices, but thankfully she sought help and cleaned herself up.”

She was devastated when her mother died from pancreatic cancer. “It was very unexpected,” Coolidge revealed. “She was diagnosed... in, like, August or September and then was dead by November.... That was sort of beyond what my little brain could handle.”

Coolidge received a standing ovation when she nabbed the Golden Globe for best supporting actress on Jan. 10.

UPS AND DOWNS

Coolidge landed her first TV role — an episode of Seinfeld — right before her mother died. She was elated but hit a setback when only small parts followed. “Ten years of my life of auditioning,” she said, “none of it added up to a job.”

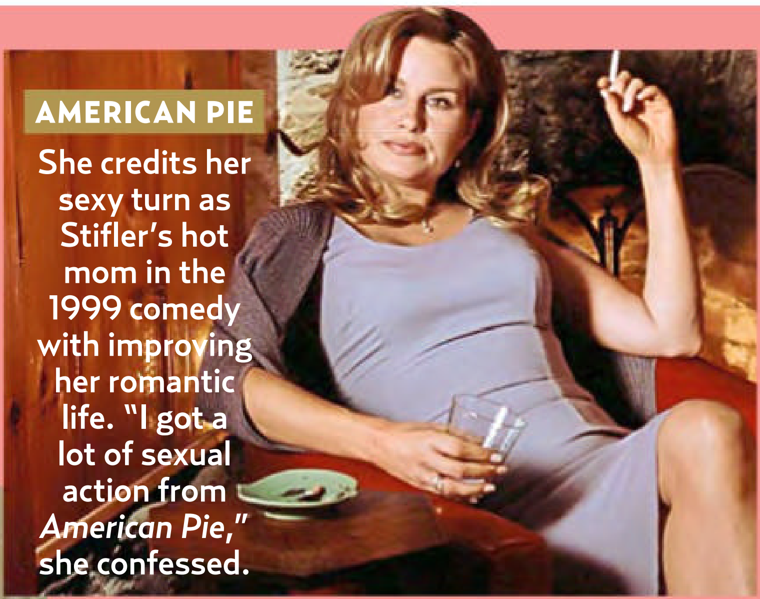
She eventually scored a few high-profile roles in franchises, including American Pie (as Stifler’s saucy mom) and Legally Blonde (as manicurist Paulette Bonafonte), as well as a part in the critically acclaimed Christopher Guest comedy Best in Show. (See box.)

While her career was picking up, she faced challenges in her personal life. Coolidge admitted to going under the knife and once revealed she had regrets about altering her appearance. “I’ll be on the phone with a girlfriend, and I’ll just look up [at a mirror] and see myself smiling by accident, and I go, ‘What the fk is that?’” Coolidge confessed. “It’s not even human.”

She’s also been unlucky in love.

MEMORABLE ROLES

From Stifler’s mom to the bend-and-snap, Coolidge has been killing it



AMERICAN PIE

She credits her sexy turn as Stifler’s hot mom in the 1999 comedy with improving her romantic life. “I got a lot of sexual action from American Pie,” she confessed.

LEGALLY BLONDE

Ten years after bringing beloved manicurist Paulette to life, Coolidge was asked to audition for the stage musical version. “I said to my agent, what do you mean, audition?” she recalled.

SEINFELD

Coolidge admitted she “only had lies” on her résumé before snagging the role of Jerry’s masseuse girlfriend in a 1993 episode.

BEST IN SHOW

The actress put her improv background to good use in the 2000 comedy, which also featured Eugene Levy and Jane Lynch.

"I've never found anyone quite right for myself," she said in January. (Exes include actors Banks McClintock and Chris Kattan.) "I haven't found the love of my life." Says the source: "The problem Jennifer has had for ages is chasing the wrong type of guy." Still, she hasn't given up hope. "She's totally open to meeting the right person," adds the source. "The challenge is finding someone who's fun and able to keep up with her — that's been hard for her."

IN DEMAND

The last few months have been a whirlwind, and she's embracing her newfound icon status. "Jennifer was always respected among her peers and recognized as a phenomenal talent," explains the source, "but the fact that her work in White Lotus was so widely well-received has been life-changing." Offers are flooding in. "She's got a lot more opportunities coming her way, and her days are way busier than they used to be," says the source. "She's very much at peace, and is so excited about what the next chapter has in store." US

Third Time's The Charm

In October, Coolidge revealed she didn't know if she'd be asked back for the long-awaited third installment of Legally Blonde, which centers around Reese Witherspoon's Elle Woods and is being written by Mindy Kaling and Dan Goor. "I know nothing," Coolidge said at the time. But Kaling has insisted Coolidge would "1,000 percent" be a part of the project, and Witherspoon recently said the threequel won't happen without her. "There's no Legally Blonde 3 without Jennifer," declared Witherspoon, adding that she's thrilled her former costar is finally getting the recognition she deserves. "It's really nice to see her getting this incredible moment." Adds a source: "Reese and Jennifer have become good friends. Reese adores her."

KALING

THE WHITE LOTUS

Coolidge played the self-absorbed Tanya McQuoid in two seasons of the HBO Max hit series. "It was a chance to challenge herself," says a source. "It's been such a blessing."

SHOTGUN WEDDING

She joined Jennifer Lopez for the 2023 rom-com. "I wanted to ask [J.Lo], 'How do you look like this?'" she admitted. "I just didn't have the guts."

JOEY

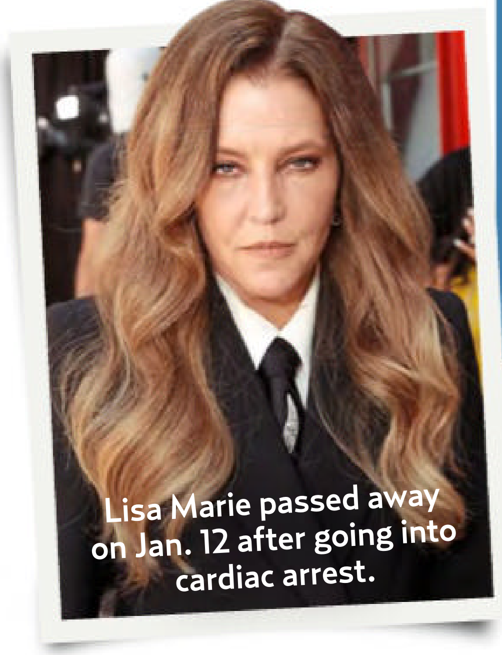
She did two seasons of the Friends spinoff before it was canned in 2006. "You think it's all going to go so fabulous," she's said. "And then two seconds later, it's just through."

THE BATTLE BEGINS

Following Lisa Marie Presley's passing, her mother, Priscilla, is fighting for control of her millions

BY JAIME HARKIN

"[Riley's] very strong and levelheaded, but it's still so much for her to deal with," shares a source.



Lisa Marie passed away on Jan. 12 after going into cardiac arrest.

In the weeks following Lisa Marie Presley's untimely death at the age of 54, her family members appeared to be a united front. Her mother, Priscilla, and her eldest daughter, Riley Keough, attended a memorial service held in Lisa Marie's honor at Graceland on Jan. 22, and they've both rallied around Lisa Marie's 14-year-old twins, Harper and Finley Lockwood, as they struggled to cope with their monumental loss.

But just four days after the emotional memorial service, Priscilla made a shocking legal move — leaving many wondering if the family is at odds over Lisa Marie's fortune and questioning whether Lisa Marie and Priscilla were as close in recent years as they'd let on. On Jan. 26, Priscilla, 77, filed a petition challenging a 2016 amendment that Lisa Marie had made to her will removing Priscilla and Lisa Marie's former business manager, Barry Siegel, as co-trustees and replacing them with Riley, 33, and her son, Benjamin, who committed suicide in 2020. "The current situation with the will being contested is a real mess," says a source. "It's sad for everyone involved."

LOCKING HORNS

According to the source, Lisa Marie's finances "were in a terrible state" when she unexpectedly passed away. When she sued her former manager, Barry Siegel, in 2018, legal documents revealed that her $100 million trust had decreased to just $14,000 in 2016. She also reportedly owed $1 million in taxes. "Lisa Marie knew she'd made some terrible decisions," says the source, adding that the biggest drain on her bank account had become legal fees and her expensive lifestyle.

In 2010, she had named

Lisa Marie was just 9 when she found her music icon dad dead of a heart attack at the age of 42.

SAVING GRACELAND

Facing mountains of debt following Elvis' 1977 death, Priscilla decided to turn his beloved home into a successful tourist attraction.

With reporting by Jen Heger, James Robertson & Andrea Simpson

"I have always been there for Elvis' legacy, our family and the fans," Priscilla said in a Feb. 3 statement.

Priscilla and Siegel as co-trustees of her trust — which includes Graceland and 15 percent ownership of her dad Elvis' estate — but in 2016, she put Riley and Benjamin in charge (their father is Lisa Marie's first husband, Danny Keough, with whom she was living at the time of her death). "Priscilla feels strongly that she should be overseeing what Lisa Marie left behind," explains the source. Her new petition challenges the "authenticity and validity" of the 2016 amendment (Priscilla claims she didn't receive notice of the amendment while Lisa Marie was alive, notes that Priscilla's name is misspelled in the document and questions the authenticity of her daughter's signature).

Lisa Marie and Priscilla often disagreed. "They were both strong-willed with strong opinions," notes the source. A second source says that they often disagreed about finances, and things "got ugly" when Lisa Marie sold off a chunk of Elvis' assets. (In 2004, Lisa Marie sold 85 percent of Elvis Presley Enterprises' assets, including rights to her father's name and image.) Another sticking point was Priscilla's close relationship with Lisa Marie's ex and father to her twins, Michael Lockwood. "Michael and Priscilla have always gotten along," shares the second source. "He'd rather have Priscilla take over as trustee, not Riley." The source adds that Lockwood, 61, is moving Harper and Finley in with him and his new wife — but a third source states that Priscilla may fight to keep the girls with her. "Priscilla had custody of the twins for a large portion of the custody battle between Michael and Lisa Marie," explains the source." "She doesn't want the girls to be exploited by Michael."

RIGHTFUL HEIR

While some have dismissed Priscilla's move as a money grab, the second source insists she simply believes she's best for the job. "Priscilla always looked after the estate and kept it going," explains the source. "She likely thinks she knows how to handle the money and is better equipped to maneuver it than Riley." Meanwhile, Riley is ready to take the reins of her mother's estate. "Lisa adored Riley, and she leaned on her for advice about everything," says the first source. "Riley is proud Lisa Marie put her in charge — she just wants to honor what her mother would've wanted." US

LISA MARIE'S LOVE LIFE

The singer was married four times — but it was her 20-month marriage to late superstar Michael Jackson in the mid-'90s that generated the most headlines.

BITTER LAWSUIT

In 2018, Lisa Marie sued her former business manager, Barry Siegel, for $100 million, claiming he mismanaged her fortune. (He countersued for $800,000, blaming her excessive spending.)

LOSING BENJAMIN

Lisa Marie was devastated when her son took his own life at 27, in 2020. "The depth of the pain is suffocating," she wrote on Instagram. "I will never be the same."

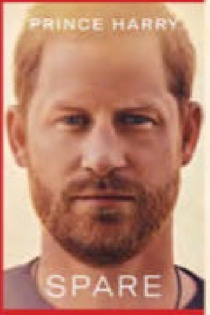
PRINCE HARRY



In addition to anecdotes bordering on TMI (think: his frostbitten penis and losing his virginity behind a pub to an older woman), Prince Harry revealed in Spare that he'd killed 25 Taliban fighters during his tour in Afghanistan and that his father, King Charles III, once joked about his status as the "spare" heir. Royal watchers were also aghast over his account of a 2019 argument with Prince William in which he claimed his older brother physically attacked him and threw him to the ground in a fit of rage.

Essential Prep Steps

According to makeup artist Kirin Bhatty, this ethereal style is all in the layering

Gone are the days of heavy makeup — even under the bright lights of Hollywood. The look now leans toward "skinamilism," a dreamy, buffed complexion. "Think a hazy, almost filtered effect in real life," says the glam pro. Here, her technique:

START WITH SKINCARE
Perfecting moisture will help you "look like the best version of yourself," Bhatty says. On big nights, she starts with a cream mask plus facial massage to boost circulation and depuff, followed by a hydrating sheet mask and, finally, gua sha sculpting.

PLAY WITH TEXTURES
An important rule to follow: Alternating dewy and matte products will help create that hyper-natural finish. The beauty guru typically starts with "a super rich moisturizer followed by a mattifying primer." She then dabs on a glowy foundation before targeting "anywhere that light naturally hits with subtly shimmering or glistening highlighter."

SET IT SOFTLY
The key to the whole look? "A super, super light dusting of powder all over the face," says Bhatty, who recommends using a fan brush to avoid picking up too much product.

Since opening its doors in 2005, iconic Harlem eatery Melba's has been a staple in the community — something founder Melba Wilson takes great pride in. "Harlem is to me what the soil is to the earth. It's where I'm rooted; it's what nourishes me and allows me to grow," says the entrepreneur, who strives to make a difference in people's lives both at home and in the workplace. "My daily intention is to [model] values that help sustain and guide my life: accountability — owning things without making excuses; humility — how your actions can affect others; and gratitude — showing appreciation for others." Here, Wilson sits down with chef Judy Joo to dish on her famed Southern restaurant, her biggest inspirations and her dream dinner guests.

MW The Obamas.

What's your go-to late-night snack?

MW I love a nice bowl of ice cream, rice cakes and some darn good chocolate.

Those all pair perfectly with a great TV show. So what are you watching these days?

MW I'm binging Cook at All Costs, The White Lotus and The ReidOut.

What's next for you?

MW I'm excited about Melba's Newark, N.J., location, a food product line and a few major endorsements.

Teresa Giudice spills the tea on season 13 of The Real Housewives of New Jersey

Three things in life are certain: death, taxes and drama on The Real Housewives of New Jersey. In the reality series' 13th season (Tuesdays on Bravo), cameras roll as Teresa Giudice plans her wedding to Luis Ruelas amid an ongoing feud with her brother, Joe Gorga, and his wife, Melissa Gorga. Here, the TV personality dishes the details to Us.

Q: How did you feel going into this season?

This season was emotional for me. There were lots of highs and lots of lows. I was really excited because I [was] getting married and the happiest I've ever been.

Q: In the premiere, you talk about working on yourself and being calmer. Why did you decide to take those steps?

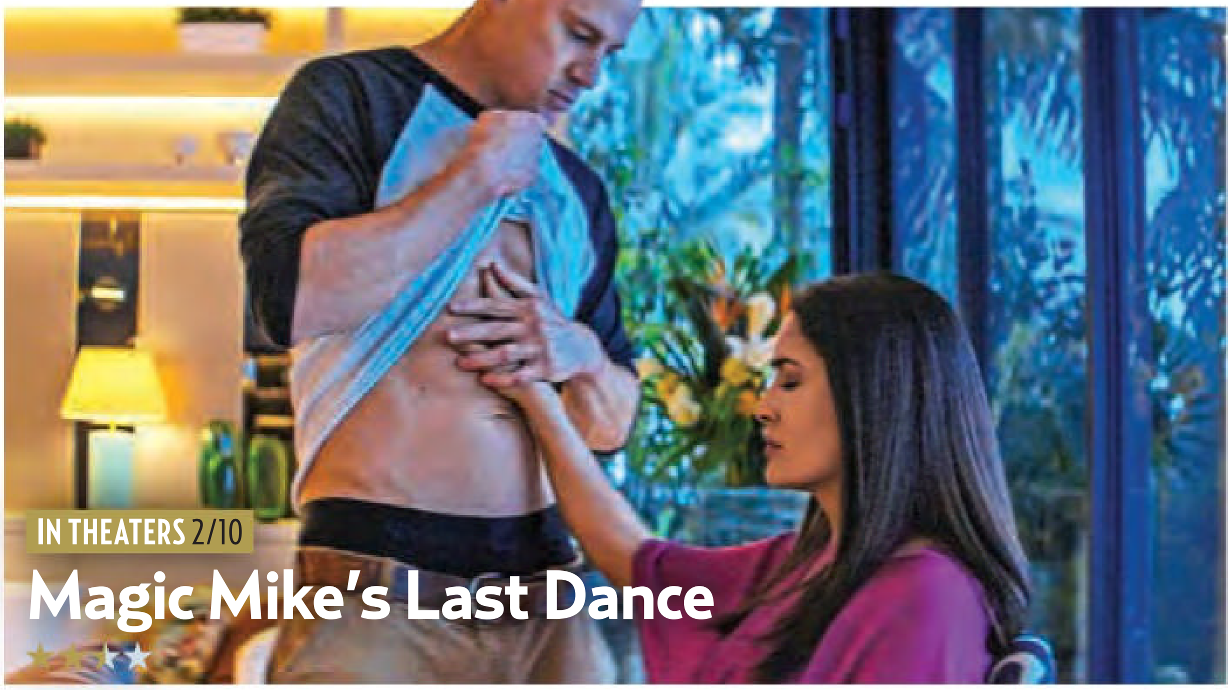
I've watched episodes that I've been in, and I really didn't like my behavior. I have four daughters. I don't want them to behave that way, so I wanted to change. It's 2023 — we can't get physical anymore. We have to speak with our words and get our point across that way.

Q: What do you hope people learn about you this season?

I want people to see the real Teresa. I'm very easygoing, always happy. I am a little softer this time [compared to] how I used to be in the beginning.

"For a long time, I haven't put myself first," Giudice says. "So now, this is my time."

MOVIES



IN THEATERS 2/10

Magic Mike's Last Dance

So, the rating is a misnomer. The super-sultry lap dance extravaganza Channing Tatum gives Salma Hayek Pinault in a Miami mansion? Four stars, easy. Same for the dazzling revue capper. But everything else about this grand finale is just (sorry!) limp. We find our former stripper "Magic" Mike Lane now aimlessly bartending — so when Hayek Pinault's wealthy doyenne asks him to go to London for a surprise opportunity, he's ready, willing and able. Turns out she owns a stuffy theater and wants him to direct a one-night-only stage show so females can feel empowered. Or something. (Mike isn't wrong when he tells his buddies over Zoom, "It's totally bonkers.") The wisp of a story is a time filler leading up to the exhilarating climax, in which Tatum writhes around in his underwear with a ballerina in a faux rainstorm. It's no "Pony," but what a ride. MARA REINSTEIN

TELEVISION

ON THIS WEEK

25
THINGS YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT ME

BY Rita Moreno

The screen legend shares some classic truths with Us

80 for Brady is in theaters now.

1. My favorite meal to cook is any Puerto Rican [dish], like picadillo.

2. Out of all of my projects, I'm most proud of West Side Story for every obvious reason in the world. It gave me an Oscar, a Golden Globe and a kind of fame that I didn't have heretofore.
3. My secret to looking and feeling good at 91 years old is that I'm lucky that I have excellent Caribbean genes.
4. All I remember about my first car is that it had a rumble seat and I paid something like $100 for it.

5. My favorite costar was Marlon Brando in The Night of the Following Day.

6. The most starstruck moment I've ever had was meeting Clark Gable on the MGM lot. I was 17.
7. My favorite movie is the new film Women Talking.
8. A keepsake I've taken from set is my 80 for Brady jeweled jersey signed by Tom [Brady] himself.
9. On a typical Sunday afternoon, you'd find me napping.

10. My favorite items in my wardrobe are 75 pairs of shoes!

11. My favorite room in my house is the kitchen.
12. As an EGOT winner, the award that means the most to me is the Oscar because it was my first one and it's iconic.
13. One place I'd like to go to is Lake Como, Italy, because it's romantic and beautiful.
14. My favorite book is The Road by Cormac McCarthy.

15. The actress I looked up to the most growing up was Elizabeth Taylor.

16. One thing everyone should know about Marlon Brando is that he had the greatest sense of humor of anyone I've ever known.
17. My celebrity crush growing up was John Derek.
18. I have good skin naturally, so the only beauty product I've ever used is moisturizer.
19. The roles I was dying to get but didn't was everything that Meryl Streep did.

20. My secret talent is that I love to do pencil drawings.

21. A common misconception about me is that I work out. I don't!
22. My alternate profession would be a child psychologist.
23. The song that brings back the best memories is "Dream" from the 1940s.
24. My favorite gift I've received is my daughter Fernanda [Luisa Gordon].
25. The character that resonated the most with me was [West Side Story's] Anita.
